Why does patient privacy matter?

Privacy curtains are important for infection control, stopping the airborne spread of pathogens between patients, staff and visitors.

Privacy is also an important human right that can have an impact on human wellbeing including mental and physical health, and recovery from illness.

One study showed that 87% of curtains became contaminated with MRSA within 14 days.*

*University of Manitoba

Every year, 220,000 Canadians acquire an infection while in hospital.*

Did you know?

A 600-bed acute facility spends around 6 weeks each year on conventional patient curtain changes alone.

Introducing InstaSwap

InstaSwap is an innovative, easy-change curtain system designed to preserve patient privacy while maximizing infection control.

The system has 3 key elements:

CUSTOM FRAMED MESH

- Customized to any ceiling height
- Non-absorbent nylon mesh framed with webbing for strength
- Requires infrequent laundering
- Complies with Canadian fire regulations

STANDARD CURTAIN PANEL

- Standard 68" x 66" panel size throughout
- Available in six standard colours, or custom fabric upon request
- Antimicrobial fabric inhibits bacterial growth
- Lightweight for reduced laundry costs

REINFORCED SNAP TAPE

- Heavy duty snap fastener tape connects mesh to curtain panel
- Reinforced for long-term strength
- Simply tear off soiled curtain and snap on a new one
- Head height = no need for ladders

"The whole process is user friendly, makes the room cleaning much easier, and having the same colour and size of panel is very smart. Now there are more staff completing the task, some that were unfortunately unable to manage the previous system."
